

Dear Mr. Strong,
Hello, how are you? Your name was given to me by Rusty Bloxom, chief historian for the Mighty Eighth Museum. He said you might be able to assist me in locating a photograph of my grandfathers' bomber. I don't know if you charge a research fee like the museum does but I would be willing to pay one if you do. My grandfather served as a Radioman in the 306th Bomber Group in the 369th Bombardment Squadron; Fitin' Bitin'. His name was Charles Huston Moxley and the name of the plane was "Dearly Beloved". I know the pilots' last name was Casiday (I'm not too sure of that spelling). If you could please assist me in my search I would greatly appreciate it. I would love to locate a photograph of the plane or the crew. I read somewhere, though, that the crew switched planes, for reasons unbeknownst to me, at some point during their tour. This story was also confirmed by my grandmother. According to her, they never renamed the second plane. I would appreciate any assistance immensely. Please feel free to contact me at home or work any time of day. Thank you in advance.

Re: Your note of 12 November.

I have a crew picture with your grandfather in it.

I have located a picture of Dearly Beloved and will be able to get hold of it shortly.

I can give you 8x10 prints for $10 each.

Make a check to 306th BG Assn; Send it to me, and I will forward the pictures as soon as I can get my hands on the plane picture.
